&nbsp; &nbsp; &nbs
Southeast Louisiana: &nbsp; Widespread rain is developing across the region today, however no freezing precipitation is expected. A large arctic mass will be moving into the area this evening   bringing dry air and below normal temperatures through Friday. 
&nbsp;
Southwest / Central Louisiana: &nbsp; Areas of light rain and drizzle continue to fall across the area moving rapidly off to the northeast  keeping temperatures a bit cooler than normal. The next front is expected through late on Thursday.

This latest front is not expected to bring any rains.
