GOHSEP Winter Weather SITREP December 7, 2017 As of 4:30 PM

State EOC Activation Level: Crisis Action Team (CAT)

WebEOC Incident: 17-032 Winter Wx – Statewide – Dec0710

SITUATION:
A cold high pressure system will bring freezing conditions and possible snow/sleet across the region tonight through Friday.

North Louisiana: A freeze warning is in effect for tonight across the entire ArkLaTex. Overnight lows are forecast to drop to near freezing levels with possible light snow/sleet and ice accumulation in the spottier areas. Please be cautious and watch for ice accumulation on roads and bridges. Please watch for possible power outages as your homes and businesses may be more vulnerable to the impact of a snow event.

Southwest/Central Louisiana: A threat for light rain mixed with sleet in east Texas and central Louisiana today and tonight. No ice accumulation is expected, but as temperatures drop to at or below freezing late tonight, there could be some slick spots on area roads and bridges.

Overnight lows are forecast to range from lows in the lower 20's across the Interstate 30 corridor to around 30 across deep east Texas and west-central Louisiana. Also there is a slight chance for snow flurries across deep east Texas and west-central Louisiana after midnight.

North Louisiana:
Overnight low temperatures will range from lows in the lower 20's across the Interstate 30 corridor to around 30 across deep east Texas and west-central Louisiana. Also there is a slight chance for snow flurries during the overnight hours in those areas.

Southwest/Central Louisiana:
Overnight low temperatures will range from lows in the lower 20's across the Interstate 30 corridor to around 30 across deep east Texas and west-central Louisiana. Also there is a slight chance for snow flurries during the overnight hours in those areas.

Go Hump! Go Home!