WebEOC Incident Name: 009-14 Winter Weather - Statewide – 10-11, February 2014

SITUATION: GOHSEP is currently monitoring an upper level disturbance that will produce winter weather in regions of the state this week. A cold front is moving through the state today and is expected to stall over the region, setting up for a few different scenarios. Currently, the central and northern parishes are forecast to see some winter weather, while the southern parishes are forecast to see rainfall with totals reaching almost 3 inches through Wednesday. Winter Weather Advisories and Winter Storm Warnings are in effect for several parishes.
