Weather Forecast for Op Period

Temperatures will drop below freezing again tonight for just about the entire state. Thursday (29 JAN 2026) morning lows along the I-20 will dip into the mid 20°Fs with temps at/below freezing for 8 to 12 hours across the northern parishes. However, north Louisiana temps on Thursday (29 JAN 2026) afternoon will get into the 50°Fs and that should just about finish any lingering roadway snow and ice except where plows and shovels have created piles.

Most of the state stays above freezing for Thursday (29 JAN 2026) evening into Friday (30 JAN 2026) morning as we await the next strong Arctic front, currently scheduled for a Friday (30 JAN 2026) passage. Guidance has been bouncing around a bit with regard to the precipitation potential; however, even if we get a few showers or even some flakes, it won't add to the recent ice and snow dilemma.

North Louisiana temperatures will drop below 32°F on Friday evening (30 JAN 2026) and could stay at or below freezing for sections of north Louisiana until mid-day Sunday (1 JAN 2026). Plan for lows near 20°F along the I-20 for early Saturday (31 JAN 2026) morning with lows dipping into the 'teens for Sunday (1 FEB 2026) morning.

Sunday (1 FEB 2026) temperatures for the northern parishes will get above freezing but they won't stay there long. Lows for Monday's (2 FEB 2026) sunrise are currently forecasted to drop into the mid 20°Fs across the northern half of the state with freezing temperatures once again reaching the coastal parishes that morning.

INCIDENT

WebEOC Incident: 26-005 – Winter Weather – Statewide – Jan2326

Activation Level: Level 3

State Declaration of Emergency: JML 26-006

OPERATIONAL RHYTHM

Coordination Call/Intel Briefing: N/A

Parish and ESF SITREPs Due in WebEOC: 2000

SITREP published: 2100

INCIDENT OVERVIEW

We are rightsizing our operational posture starting 29 Jan 2026. ESFs and parish SITREPs are due in WebEOC at 1600. State SITREP will be published at 1800.

The Louisiana State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) will remain at Level 3.

“Warmer” temperatures today dramatically improved the roadways, resulting in the clearing of I-20 allowing the accelerated movement of commodities to parishes. The short warmth won’t last and the freeze will delay water infrastructure restoration, but repairs are still occurring.

MREs and water are arriving to those parishes in need. Warming shelters are open across the regions to protect those who need support. Schools in the affected areas in North Louisiana will remain closed for precautionary reasons but are expected to reopen beginning of next week.
